

OCP suffered great loss

I want to express my sympathy to the Owosso Community Players. They have suffered a great loss (with the burning of the Lebowsky Center).

I worked at the Capitol Theatre from 1936 to 1940 — my high school days — as an usher. Capitol Theatre was at its best then. We had crowds, lots of times lined up outside. It was the place boys took girls on a date and later their wives and children ... just for a night out.

Everyone wanted to see the big newsreels. We saw the things leading us up to World War II. After the war, things were different; TV and other things came in.

I was happy when OCP took it over and was trying to restore it to somewhat like it had been. They were almost done.

It is not just the wood that burned ... but things that can never be replaced.

God bless you all.
